DIGITAL MEDIA & EVENTS

DIGITAL AND ONLINE PROPERTIES

E-mail campaigns

With its unique and proprietary e-mail database of more than 14,000 North Dallas Corridor residents, employees and other prominent audience members, our digital campaigns are one of the most effective ways we move people to events and communicate offers from our clients. Below are the main ways we reach this proactive audience.

- Save the Date monthly e-mail newsletter

Save the Date is our monthly e-mail informing our readers about what's going on in the North Dallas Corridor. We offer top-level clients the opportunity to promote an event occurring within the month. Required content is a brief description of the event and along with a photo, if available.

- Dedicated Client e-mail campaigns

Our client e-mail campaigns are all about your company. These campaigns are an effort to get word out about events, sales or promotions your company is hosting. We customize the e-mail based on your needs and wants. These e-mails are sent to our extensive list of subscribers as a service to you.

Website

Our website is another effective tool used to draw our readers from the print product to the digital realm. Online, we offer our readers extra information and tips not found in the magazine, as well as an online shopping and restaurant/nightlife guide directing our thousands of readers to the restaurants and stores in the North Dallas Corridor. We also utilize our website as an interactive tool to draw readers to the site to vote in our many contests and polls.

EVENTS

The Addison and the North Dallas Corridor Media Group staff has tremendous experience in producing and promoting events. In fact, our parent company is the owner or creator of some of the longest running events and festivals in the country.

We take this experience into action when we create custom event for our clients. Designed to work with our print and online products, we can develop unique events for our clients that allow them to meet and interact with the audience most likely to purchase their products or services.

Please contact your advertising representative today to inquire about how we can use these unique tools to help promote your business.
